

Within the confines of a bottle,
unlock the secrets of the earth, its history and dreams concealed in every drop

Makris's wine list primarily pays homage to Greek vineyards. It brings together the richness of our landscapes, from windswept Aegean islands and volcanic outcrops to high-altitude terraces and old bush vines rooted in poor, stony soils. Special focus is placed on the unique character of the country's most renowned terroirs. Names such as Santorini, Naoussa, Nemea, Cephalonia, Tinos, and Drama are central to the selection, alongside native varieties like Assyrtiko, Xinomavro, Agiorgitiko, Mavrodaphne, and Robola that express place with clarity, energy, and depth.

At the same time, the cellar opens a deliberate conversation with the great terroirs of the world. Carefully chosen bottles from Burgundy, Bordeaux, Champagne, Piedmont, the Mosel, the Loire, Tuscany and other benchmark regions are included as reference points. These are wines that have shaped the modern understanding of balance, precision and longevity at the table. Their presence is not about hierarchy but about context, allowing guests to explore how the finest expressions of Greece stand beside the classic vineyards that defined contemporary wine culture.

Every entry on the list follows three guiding principles. Authenticity, so that the grape, vineyard and origin remain at the forefront. Balance, so that structure, freshness and complexity stay in harmony from the first glass to the last course. Culinary synergy, so that each wine can engage with the cooking of Chef Patron Petros Dimas, either through quiet resonance or through an unexpected pairing that reveals a new dimension in the dish.

The result is a living cellar that evolves with each vintage and season. Guests are encouraged to move freely among familiar labels and discoveries, between local heritage and global excellence. Whether the journey begins in Santorini or in the Côte d'Or, the Greek vineyard remains the core of focus and the main inspiration for this list.

OLD VINES A TASTE OF ING HISTORY

A selection dedicated to the world's great old vine vineyards, places that have endured for decades or even centuries, staying resilient and eloquent through time. These rare, often remote and site-specific wines capture a quiet precision and layered depth that only true old vines can give. Santorini is not included here, as its ancient vineyards are explored in a separate, dedicated section.

THE ISLANDS

SANTORINI

A volcanic terroir unlike any other. Santorini's ancient vines, on their own roots and trained into the traditional kouloura baskets, thrive in ash, pumice, and lava-rich soils. The result is fruit of striking concentration, energy, and salty grip. Here Assyrtiko finds its most unmistakable voice, giving wines of precision, structure, and long life. This section is devoted entirely to Santorini's singular wines, one of the great vineyards of the world.

T I N O S

T-Oinos is one of Greece's most compelling wine projects, growing from the raw, wind-swept heart of Tinos in the Aegean. The vines sit on granitic, stone-strewn soils with huge boulders, a landscape that feels both austere and magical. From up to 450 metres, Assyrtiko and Mavrotragano give wines of striking clarity and drive, built to age with grace.

Crete's white wines grow from a mosaic of coastal breezes and high-altitude vineyards, marrying sunlit fruit with a cool, salty edge. Indigenous grapes like Vidiano and Thrapsathiri lead with depth, brightness, and texture, while Vilana and Assyrtiko add herbal lift and a distinct Cretan voice.

K E F A L O N I A

In the Ionian Sea west of Greece, Kefalonia holds a deep wine heritage, with many old vines and a treasure of indigenous grapes. Robola is its heart, grown on the steep, rocky limestone slopes of Mount Ainos, known locally as Vino di Sasso, the wine of the stones. This harsh, stony place gives wines of crisp structure, quiet precision, and a vivid sense of the island.

A T T I C A

With a vine-growing tradition of more than three millennia, Attica and its Savatiano grape sit at the heart of Greece's wine story. Rooted in poor limestone soils and cooled by Aegean breezes, Savatiano is a living bridge between past and present. Today, the region brings forward wines of honest character and quiet innovation, expressing Attica's terroir with freshness and depth.

PELOPONNESE – THE HIGH-ALTITUDE TERROIRS

Mantinia and Aigialia reveal how vital altitude is to the Peloponnese's most distinctive sites. Their high plateaus and steep hillsides bring cooler days, sharp day-night shifts, and steady mountain winds that help maintain acidity and purity. With longer, gentler ripening, Moschofilero in Mantinia and Roditis in Aigialia gain vibrant aromatics, clarity, and tension, proving that elevation is a defining force in the region's style and quality.

BURGUNDY, CHABLIS & OTHER TOP CHARDONNAY

CHABLIS

Chablis sits at Burgundy's northern edge, a cool, limestone-rich corner that gives some of the world's purest expressions of Chardonnay. Kimmeridgian soils and a brisk climate shape wines of bright tension, mineral clarity, and quiet intensity. It stands apart within Burgundy, yet remains one of the most iconic voices of the variety anywhere.

B U R G U N D Y

Almost a single grape, a maze of vineyards, and a classification that became a model for the world. White Burgundy enchants through its layered scale. It starts with broad regional wines, moves through areas like Chablis and other village appellations, then rises to the named sites, the premier crus that mark each commune's finest slopes. At the summit are the grand crus, the tiny, legendary terroirs that deliver Burgundy at its most profound and enduring.

GREEK RED WINES

NAOUSSA, AMYNDEON & OTHER XINOMAVRO TERROIRS

N A O U S S A

Naoussa is one of Greece's most historic and soulful wine regions, defined by the noble Xinomavro grape. On the slopes of Mount Vermio, a patchwork of soils and exposures shapes wines of firm structure, bright acidity, and layered aromas of red fruit, spice, and earth. It remains a true reference point for Greek red wine.

AMYNDEON

Amyndeon gives one of the most graceful and aromatic faces of Xinomavro, shaped by high altitude and a genuinely cool climate. Ringed by lakes and refreshed by steady breezes, the vineyards hold on to freshness, with acidity, finesse, and purity at the core. If Naoussa is the powerful, structured side of Barolo, Amyndeon is the more refined, delicate counterpart.

Burgundy is a place of quiet magic. Few regions have pursued terroir with such devotion, and its vineyards are a living map of it. The famous climats form a mosaic of tiny, clearly defined parcels, each with its own soil, microclimate, and centuries of human care. From this patchwork come some of the world's most aromatic and nuanced Pinot Noir wines, rooted in a tradition that reaches back to the late fourteenth century.

FROM BORDEAUX TO THE WORLD

B O R D E A U X

Bordeaux remains a cornerstone of serious wine culture, shaped by generations of excellent wines and the enduring strengths of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot, and their companions. The 1855 classification still frames much of its story, yet today a growing circle of dedicated, artisan growers is bringing fresh energy and a more human, nuanced vision of the region. From timeless classics to rising appellations, this selection captures Bordeaux in all its depth and range.

CÔTE RÔTIE, HERMITAGE & MORE

T H E R H Ô N E R I V E R

The Rhône River cradles some of France's oldest vineyards, shaped into two very different worlds. In the north, steep terraces give Syrah wines of depth and long life, from the power of Hermitage to the lifted perfume of Côte Rôtie and the raw clarity of Cornas. Further south, Grenache leads generous blends such as Châteauneuf-du-Pape, which are riper and warmly spiced. As the river runs toward Provence, the scenery softens into olive groves and lavender, mirroring the south's open, sunlit charm.

Barolo and Barbaresco are the crown jewels of Piedmont, both born from the noble Nebbiolo grape with its haunting perfume and age-worthy spine. Barolo is broader and more powerful, with firm tannins and deep notes of rose, cherry, and tar, while Barbaresco leans into finesse, offering a more refined, graceful take on the same voice. Together, their rolling hills, varied soils, and long tradition give wines of timeless character and a vivid sense of place.

DESSERT WINES

Sweet wines are born through very different paths, each carrying its own sense of place and intention. Sun-dried grapes, so often linked to the Mediterranean, hold the warmth of the season, giving wines of generous, ripe fruit and glowing richness. Noble rot, Botrytis cinerea, works in a quieter, more mysterious way, concentrating flavours into something layered and almost weightless, as in Sauternes or Tokaji, where honeyed depth meets a bright, cleansing line of acidity.
